HARDING CONTINUES TO REGAIN HIS HEALTH

SOUND SLEEP IS OF BENEFIT TO THE PRESIDENT

TEMPERATURE GETS TO NORMAL, VIGILANT WATCHFULNESS NOT RELAXED

DOCTORS WARN THAT "UPS AND DOWNS" MAY STILL FOLLOW IN HIS CONDITION

(By United Press)
With President Harding's Party, Palace Hotel, San Francisco, Aug. 2.—President Harding, fighting his way back to health, is being aided by another night of sound sleep, according to those on watch early this morning.

At 5 a. m. there had been no activity in the presidential suite for six hours. Servants in the corridor reported there had been no coughing in Mr. Harding's room, and it is believed he was resting as easily as he did last night.

Just after his final night examination, Dr. Charles E. Sawyer said: "The temperature is normal, as it has been practically all day. We take this to mean that the fire is out so far as the febrile condition is concerned. We cannot say that it will stay out; it may not. We hope it will."

Sawyer said the president's general condition was about the same as when the last official bulletin was issued shortly before 5 p. m. yesterday. This bulletin said Mr. Harding was resting comfortably after a restless day, and that the lung condition was slightly improved.

Physicians attending President Harding settled down today to what promised to be a long period of vigilant watchfulness over their patient.

While all indications furnished on Mr. Harding's condition pointed to uninterrupted progress towards complete recovery, his doctors, headed by Dr. Sawyer, warned that "ups and downs" undoubtedly would occur, that some days the president might not be so well. Even now, Dr. Sawyer emphasized, the task of recovery will be slow and Mr. Harding will for some days to come continue to be a very sick man.

"There will be many days," said Dr. Sawyer, "when there will be no 'big news' in the president's condition. There will be days when there will be no apparent change, or only a very slight change. We have now settled down to the slow, gradual and, we hope, uninterrupted process of rebuilding the exhausted system of our patient. I will say to you what I said to him—that things are so much better than they might have been that all we have cause for is the deepest thankfulness."

For the present, at least, the daily consultation of doctors will continue. A little later, when the president's progress seems to warrant it, some of the doctors may discontinue their attendance, merely standing by to lend their aid if it is again needed. Dr. Sawyer and his colleagues have been careful and will continue to avoid making definite predictions concerning the probable time of any particular development in the case, such as abandonment of their twice daily consultations.

The immediate present is all the doctors dare speak of in terms of certainty. Sawyer made plain in speaking of the case that no matter how skilled medical men are, they cannot tell at what hour or what day Mr. Harding can be considered to have passed definitely out of danger. There is danger so long as the president remains subject to any complications, no matter how slight. These complications, which are common to all sick persons, Dr. Sawyer said, may include anything from an ulcerated tooth to nervousness or indigestion. Such developments, he explained, would be dangerous only in the sense that they would constitute "danger signals," warning doctors that there was some interruption in the march towards recovery.

LAKES OF BRAINERD DISTRICT ARE KEPT STOCKED WITH FISH

A. P. Cardie and D. A. Peterson, deputy game wardens, are starting the mid-summer work of stocking various lakes in this county with fish fry.

On Wednesday 22,000 black bass and 700 sun fish were planted in Gull lake. These fish were taken from the Cardie hatchery on Gull river.

From Gull lake, these fish travel into several other lakes in this chain, such as upper Gull, Cullen, Fishtrap, Nisswa, and Round lakes.

It is the intention of Messrs. Cardie and Peterson to start stocking many other lakes in the county in the near future, so that the supply will not be exhausted.

San Francisco, Aug. 2. (7 a. m.)—Dr. C. E. Sawyer was the first of President Harding's party to stir this morning. A few minutes before 7 a. m. he and Dr. J. T. Boone, who had been with Mr. Harding all night, went to Secretary Christian's room, presumably to talk over the president's night.

HARDING'S BREAKFAST EGGS, TOAST, ETC.

STATE CLAIMS PADDED PAY ROLL

TWO TEACHERS TESTIFY IN HIBBING CASE THEY HAD NEVER TAUGHT THERE

(By United Press)
Hibbing, Aug. 2.—Two of three teachers whose names appeared on the payroll of the Hibbing school district testified in the trial of C. C. Alexander, suspended superintendent, that they had never taught here.

May Washburn, one of the girls for whom fraudulent warrants are alleged to have been drawn and cashed by Mr. Alexander, was a surprised witness. The state also introduced Clara Holverson, another whose name appeared on the alleged fraudulent warrants.

A letter purporting to have been written by Alexander to R. B. McLean, state inspector of elementary schools, stated that Clara Holverson's name appeared on the roll of teachers erroneously, and explained the mistake was made by an inexperienced clerk. Miss Holverson was hired in August but resigned before the opening of school, it was stated. Several warrants were drawn in her name and cashed, the state contended.

HE CAN'T BE BOUGHT, JOHNSON DECLARES

URGES FARMERS TO CO-OPERATE IN POLITICS AS WELL AS BUSINESS

Bloomington, Minn., Aug. 2.—Emphasizing that he cannot be bought or sold by any person or party, Senator-elect Magnus Johnson outlined his political program yesterday, and promised the voters he will work for the interest of the state irrespective of political affiliations.

The celebration was attended by more than 2,000 persons from this district.

Senator Johnson reiterated his stand, which he announced at previous meetings, that he is in favor of the soldiers' bonus, price stabilization of farm products, repeal of the Esch-Cummins law and enactment of emergency legislation by congress.

The speakers urged farmers to use their knowledge of co-operation not only in the economic field but in politics as well, and to combine their strength with the labor element of the state with a view of obtaining legislation which would enhance their economic welfare.

Senator Johnson also reviewed his activity in farmer co-operative organization work, and said that the 16 years of activity in this field has taught him the needs and value of the cooperative movement.

He attributed his political victory to the fact that he was misrepresented both as to his political views and his personality.

(By United Press)
Lorain, Ohio, Aug. 2.—Carbith Walker, the first man to swim across Lake Erie, ate a very hearty breakfast and went to bed after dragging himself ashore at 5:30 a. m. here today.

Walker had been in the water 21 hours and 15 minutes. He swam the 33 miles from Point Pelee, Ontario.

"I might have gone farther if it was necessary," Walker said.

The heroic swimmer worked off 20 pounds, weighing 176 when he plunged into the lake and 156 when he came ashore here.

He was accompanied by four rowboats and the gasoline launch Argus. The latter became lost in the fog and did not finish the trip until several hours later.

Lumps of sugar thrown over the side of the rowboats were the only nourishment Walker had. Meat broth and milk on board the rowboats spoiled before the swimmer was half finished.

Members of the party accompanying Walker said the lake was smooth throughout the long swim.

"I am going to sleep all day," Walker said when he arrived at the coast guard sleeping quarters here.

IRELAND AT PEACE, HIGH COURT RULES

TRIBUNAL HOLDS STATE OF REBELLION DOES NOT EXIST IN THE ISLAND NOW

Dublin, Aug. 2.—A state of war does not exist in Ireland, the court of appeals decided in giving its judgment in the case of Mrs. Nora Connelly O'Brien, reversing the opinion of the master of the rolls of the chancery division who held that civil war did exist in Ireland on June 15.

Today's decision was looked forward to with great interest and its announcement caused much excitement as it governs the position of thousands of prisoners held by the government under the plea of military necessity.

Despite the decision it is regarded as unlikely that there will be any general release of prisoners as the government has passed through almost all the stages in the draft and senate a bill legally authorizing it to continue imprisonments and other repressive measures for three months.

ROTARY HEAD SPEAKS ON IDEALS OF CLUB

Virginia, Aug. 2.—Lauding the ideals of Rotary as a valuable asset to business as well as civic and social life, D. B. McClintock, district Rotary governor, spoke at the meeting of the Virginia Rotary club. Mr. McClintock's address dealt with Rotary work in a general way. The district governor is visiting the Rotary clubs of the district.

The speaker traced the origin of Rotary clubs and its ideals, emphasizing that the true spirit of Rotary, that of fellowship, has lived through the ages and is today more predominant than ever.

A good Rotarian stands out prominently in the business world, the speaker asserted. He is known and recognized by his associates, treating his fellow men as he would be treated.

LIQUOR IMPORTERS MUST PAY CUSTOMS TAXES, IS RULING

Helena, Mont., Aug. 2.—Importers of liquor into the United States do not escape liability for customs taxes, Judge George Bonquin of the United States district court here ruled in cases involving automobiles and liquor apprehended by prohibition enforcement officers. The contention of the defense that the national prohibition act destroys laws for the collection of customs of liquor, is rejected by the court. The legality of the government's confiscation of automobiles caught in the liquor traffic, is also upheld by Judge Bonquin.

REPARATIONS IS THE BIG ISSUE

PREMIER BALDWIN AND MARQUIS CURZON STATE THE ENGLISH POSITION

(By United Press)
London, Aug. 2.—Falling to announce the expected break with France and Belgium over reparations, Premier Baldwin in Commons and Marquis Curzon in the House of Lords delivered today identical statements that expressed hope that the unity of the Entente that won the war may yet be possible in division of the spoils.

The premier stressed the need for prompt action, saying that failing in an agreement with her Allies on reparations, Britain proposes to publish recent correspondence and to bring world pressure to bear on France and Belgium.

With the permission of the Allies, Baldwin proposes an interchange of notes on reparations before making a separate action.

"We are still hopeful of securing Allied unity," the prime minister declared, while a crowded house that had expected to hear of a rupture of the Entente, cheered.

While Baldwin was urging that discussion which would lead to a final conference be started at once, Curzon was warning the Lords that Europe is sinking rapidly towards ruin and there was little time to make statements and argue. There is no possibility of a joint reply nor of an early settlement of the Ruhr dispute, Baldwin said, intimating refusals of France and Belgium on these points had been definite.

MARTIAL LAW IS THREATENED

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 2.—Kingfisher county was threatened with martial law today following the whipping of George Elder by a masked mob. Governor J. O. Walton asked local authorities for a complete report on the flogging and awaited word on steps being taken to clear up the case. Following the recent declaration of martial law in Okmulgee the governor announced he would place every county in the state under control of troops if necessary to stamp out mob law and violence.

Its holdings in treasury notes if discount increased by more than nine trillion paper marks during the same period.

NOTED EX-PREMIER OF BRITAIN IN A U. S.-CANADIAN TOUR

TO THANK CANADA FOR ITS SERVICES AND TO BECOME ACQUAINTED WITH U. S. A.

ARRIVES IN NEW YORK IN LATE SEPTEMBER, FIRST SPEECH IN MONTREAL

(Copyright 1923 by United Press)
London, Aug. 2.—David Lloyd George will sail for New York late in September on a tour which will take him to many of the cities of the United States and Canada.

His purpose, as he explained it in making his plans known to the United Press, is to thank Canada for its "magnificent services" to the empire during the war and to become personally acquainted with the United States—its cities, its people, its political system.

Britain's war-time premier—outstanding figure in Europe during the world conflict—will make a number of speeches during the trip and will visit America's national shrines. His first address will be delivered in Montreal, where he will go immediately after his arrival in New York.

Through his talks as well as by the trip he wants to get close to the people in the cities and towns through which he passes, and, to use his own words, he desires to visit several of the smaller "Main Street" communities.

Lloyd George was busy today sifting thousands of invitations from practically every state in the United States and the provinces of Canada and arranging his itinerary.

This itinerary is tentatively as follows, subject to extension or curtailment, depending on the time at his disposal, which is still uncertain.

He will start for New York late in September, and will leave New York for Montreal the night of the day of his arrival. In Montreal the first speech of his tour will be made. Thence Lloyd George will go to Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Chicago, Springfield, Ill., possibly St. Louis, Indianapolis, Cleveland, and then to Pittsburgh, Washington, and Richmond, Va.

The heroic swimmer worked off 20 pounds, weighing 176 when he plunged into the lake and 156 when he came ashore here.

He was accompanied by four rowboats and the gasoline launch Argus. The latter became lost in the fog and did not finish the trip until several hours later.

Lumps of sugar thrown over the side of the rowboats were the only nourishment Walker had. Meat broth and milk on board the rowboats spoiled before the swimmer was half finished.

Members of the party accompanying Walker said the lake was smooth throughout the long swim.

"I am going to sleep all day," Walker said when he arrived at the coast guard sleeping quarters here.

IRELAND AT PEACE, HIGH COURT RULES

TRIBUNAL HOLDS STATE OF REBELLION DOES NOT EXIST IN THE ISLAND NOW

Dublin, Aug. 2.—A state of war does not exist in Ireland, the court of appeals decided in giving its judgment in the case of Mrs. Nora Connolly O'Brien, reversing the opinion of the master of the rolls of the chancery division who held that civil war did exist in Ireland on June 15.

Today's decision was looked forward to with great interest and its announcement caused much excitement as it governs the position of thousands of prisoners held by the government under the plea of military necessity.

Despite the decision it is regarded as unlikely that there will be any general release of prisoners as the government has passed through almost all the stages in the draft and senate a bill legally authorizing it to continue imprisonments and other repressive measures for three months.

ROTARY HEAD SPEAKS ON IDEALS OF CLUB

Virginia, Aug. 2.—Lauding the ideals of Rotary as a valuable asset to business as well as civic and social life, D. B. McClintock, district Rotary governor, spoke at the meeting of the Virginia Rotary club. Mr. McClintock's address dealt with Rotary work in a general way. The district governor is visiting the Rotary clubs of the district.

The speaker traced the origin of Rotary clubs and its ideals, emphasizing that the true spirit of Rotary, that of fellowship, has lived through the ages and is today more predominant than ever.

A good Rotarian stands out preeminently in the business world, the speaker asserted. He is known and recognized by his associates, treating his fellow men as he would be treated.

LIQUOR IMPORTERS MUST PAY CUSTOMS TAXES, IS RULING

Helena, Mont., Aug. 2.—Importers of liquor into the United States do not escape liability for customs taxes, Judge George Bonquin of the United States district court here ruled in cases involving automobiles and liquor apprehended by prohibition enforcement officers. The contention of the defense that the national prohibition act destroys laws for the collection of customs of liquor, is rejected by the court. The legality of the government's confiscation of automobiles caught in the liquor traffic, is also upheld by Judge Bonquin.

REPARATIONS IS THE BIG ISSUE

PREMIER BALDWIN AND MARQUIS CURZON STATE THE ENGLISH POSITION

(By United Press)
London, Aug. 2.—Failing to announce the expected break with France and Belgium over reparations, Premier Baldwin in Commons and Marquis Curzon in the House of Lords delivered today identical statements that expressed hope that the unity of the Entente that won the war may yet be possible in division of the spoils.

The premier stressed the need for prompt action, saying that failing in an agreement with her Allies on reparations, Britain proposes to publish recent correspondence and to bring world pressure to bear on France and Belgium.

With the permission of the Allies, Baldwin proposes an interchange of notes on reparations before making a separate action.

"We are still hopeful of securing Allied unity," the prime minister declared, while a crowded house that had expected to hear of a rupture of the Entente, cheered.

While Baldwin was urging that discussion which would lead to a final conference be started at once, Curzon was warning the Lords that Europe is sinking rapidly towards ruin and there was little time to make statements and argue. There is no possibility of a joint reply nor of an early settlement of the Ruhr dispute, Baldwin said, intimating refusals of France and Belgium on these points had been definite.

MARTIAL LAW IS THREATENED

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 2.—Kingfisher county was threatened with martial law today following the whipping of George Elder by a masked mob. Governor J. O. Walton asked local authorities for a complete report on the flogging and awaited word on steps being taken to clear up the case. At the capital it was indicated that state troops would be ordered to the county if a report was not forthcoming. Following the recent declaration of martial law in Okmulgee the governor announced he would place every county in the state under control of troops if necessary to stamp out mob law and violence.

TRILLION, 333 BILLION MARKS PRINTED A DAY

Berlin, Aug. 2.—The German money presses ground out a trillion marks a day during the third week in July and then threw in an extra 333,000,000,000 for good measure.

The reichsbank's home gold reserve decreased 40,500,000 marks, which amount is reported to have been sold abroad. The official bank now has slightly more than 500,000,000 in bullion in its Berlin vaults and 110,000,000 on deposit abroad.

Its holdings in treasury notes if discount increased by more than nine trillion paper marks during the same period.

NOTED EX-PREMIER OF BRITAIN IN A U. S.-CANADIAN TOUR

TO THANK CANADA FOR ITS SERVICES AND TO BECOME ACQUAINTED WITH U. S. A.

ARRIVES IN NEW YORK IN LATE SEPTEMBER, FIRST SPEECH IN MONTREAL

(Copyright 1923 by United Press)
London, Aug. 2.—David Lloyd George will sail for New York late in September on a tour which will take him to many of the cities of the United States and Canada.

His purpose, as he explained it in making his plans known to the United Press, is to thank Canada for its "magnificent services" to the empire during the war and to become personally acquainted with the United States—its cities, its people, its political system.

Britain's war-time premier—outstanding figure in Europe during the world conflict—will make a number of speeches during the trip and will visit America's national shrines. His first address will be delivered in Montreal, where he will go immediately after his arrival in New York.

Through his talks as well as by the trip he wants to get close to the people in the cities and towns through which he passes, and, to use his own words, he desires to visit several of the smaller "Main Street" communities.

Lloyd George was busy today sifting thousands of invitations from practically every state in the United States and the provinces of Canada and arranging his itinerary.

This itinerary is tentatively as follows, subject to extension or curtailment, depending on the time at his disposal, which is still uncertain.

He will start for New York late in September, and will leave New York for Montreal the night of the day of his arrival. In Montreal the first speech of his tour will be made. Thence Lloyd George will go to Ottawa, Toronto, Winnipeg, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Chicago, Springfield, Ill., possibly St. Louis, Indianapolis, Cleveland, and then to Pittsburgh, Washington, and Richmond, Va.

TROOPS ADVANCE ON VILLA ESTATE

500 OF PANCHO'S FOLLOWERS ON TRACT EXPECTED TO BE DISARMED

Mexico City, Aug. 2.—Troops are advancing from Rosales and other nearby points to the estate in Durango owned by the late Francisco Villa.

It is reported that there are nearly 500 Villa followers on the estate, including Villa's brother, Hippolite, and seven former Villa generals, who have not yet defined what their attitude toward the government troops will be.

The belief prevails that they will be disarmed.

Real Cowboy Dance is One of the Big Features of "The Cowboy and the Lady."

A typical cowboy dance is one of the features of "The Cowboy and the Lady," a Paramount picture with Mary Miles Minter and Tom Moore, which will be shown at the Lyceum Theatre Friday and Saturday. This dance, furthermore, is the scene of a tragedy which affords the material for the great climax of this picturization of Clyde Fitch's famous play.

During the dance in the anteroom the villain is murdered, but who the guilty person is cannot be determined because of the shot being fired in darkness. In the end, however, all comes out as it should. Much of the picture was made in Wyoming near Jackson Hole, a famous resort for cattle rustlers and outlaws in times gone by.

Noah Beery, one of the two famous Beery brothers, lends his dramatic personality to the role of the father who neglects his daughter in the delightful comedy drama "Wandering Daughters," being shown last time tonight at the New Park.

Recognized as one of the great character actors of the screen today, Noah Beery came very close to rising to fame in an altogether different field of art. Born in Kansas City, Mo., Beery as a youth developed one of the most promising baritone voices that has ever been discovered in the West.

Prominent mid-West voice teachers vainly tried to persuade young Noah to study for grand opera. He did sing operatic roles on the stage, but his ambition to become an actor was greater. He enjoyed a long and enviable stage career before finally entering pictures, in which field he speedily attained recognition as a powerful actor.

Capital Yukon Play at Lyceum

Many tales of the Yukon and the lure of Alaskan gold have been picturized, but one of the most notable examples of this type of story yet witnessed on the silver sheet was seen at the Lyceum theatre yesterday when Irvin Willat's new production for Paramount, "The Siren Call," was presented to a packed house.

The theme of the picture is that if in her heart, a woman plays the game square, no matter what others think, she will win out in the end. Charlotte Woods, played by Dorothy Dalton, is a dance hall girl, secretly married to the house gambler, who is faithless to her, however, and who awaits an opportunity to desert her. A stranger appears on the scene and then begins a romance. After many vicissitudes, she is rewarded with the love of a real man.

PRESIDENT HARDING APPRAISES ALASKA'S POSSIBILITIES

PRESIDENT HARDING comes from Alaska to tell the world that he is not in favor of a policy that would lead to exploiting the resources of that country for present gain. In a striking sentence he says: "The process of development and establishment of permanent and ample civilization lies in a citizenship with homes in Alaska, not in investors who are seeking Alaskan wealth to enrich homes elsewhere."

The president is convinced that such exploitation would not be in the best interests of this country whose future is rich if its resources are used according to the principles of sound economics. He sees that the fishing grounds may be so depleted that Alaska will be robbed of this wealth, that investors might cut down her forests and take away the wealth contained therein, and that while they were doing this they would make no contribution to the best development of Alaska which must come through the efforts and activities of the people of Alaska themselves. In dealing with the effect of such exploitation, the president says: "If that is to be the Alaskan policy, we need not concern ourselves about agriculture. The adventurers and casual laborers, the masters of exploitation and agents of privilege will be satisfied to live on canned vegetables and cold storage meat during the brief periods of their temporary stays. The slow processes and modest returns of agriculture will not appeal to them."

As capital is freed to spread out investments will be made that will insure the development of the forests, railroads, coal fields and agriculture of Alaska, and the president pleads that these developments be in line with economic law and that the natural resources of the country shall not be exploited in the interests of investors who go in to take out the wealth that may be carried away and not with the intention of developing the country from which the wealth is taken.

The message is a warning and a prophecy. The chief executive of the United States sees a threat from "the masters of exploitation and agents of privilege," and he warns them to keep away.

THE PROPHECY OF WALTER H. PAGE

THE late Walter H. Page, ambassador from the United States in London during the war, in writing to Arthur W. Page at the time when America was entering the world conflict stated that he hoped that it would accomplish the following results. It is interesting to recall these and to see just how many of them have been realized.

- "First—It will break up and tear away our isolation;
- "Second—It will unhorse our cranks and soft brains;
- "Third—It will make us less promiscuously hospitable to every kind of immigrant;
- "Fourth—It will re-establish in our minds and conscience and policy our true historic genesis, background, kindred and destiny;
- "Fifth—It will revive our real manhood—put the mollycoddles in disgrace, as idiots and dandies are;
- "Sixth—It will make our politics frank and manly by restoring our true nationality;
- "Seventh—It will make us again a great seafaring people;
- "Eighth—Break up our feminized education—make a boy a vigorous animal and make our education rest on a wholesome physical basis;
- "Ninth—Bring men of a higher type into our political life."

A reading of this prophecy shows the wisdom of an American seer. Practically all of the prophecy has been partly fulfilled and what has not is likely to be. It is well sometimes to have our attention called to what men expected us to do, so that we may see how far we have fallen short. In those days men were deeply stirred, and out of their depths they cried to their people as Walter H. Page called to the American public. The public has heeded his voice and many of the things he asked they are attempting to realize in the life of the nation he served so well.

THREATENED STRIKE OF HARD COAL WORKERS

ONCE more the American people hear a threat of a strike in anthracite coal fields. The threat comes when the summer is far advanced and when stocks for use in the coming winter must be mined if the country is to have its fuel needs supplied. But, of course, the time to call a strike in the coal industry—a strike that will be of value to both operators and miners—is just at the time when the demand for coal is heavy. By a strike at such a time an excuse is provided for keeping the price at a high point and after the strike is over the price may be maintained under the excuse that stocks are depleted.

LLOYD GEORGE says that a monkey's bite was responsible for the overthrow of the real Greek leader and the resultant defeat of allied interests in the conference at Lausanne. And they say the World War originated because a lovers' quarrel caused an angry lover to shoot the Archduke. It's a strange world.

THEY are clamping the lid on so tight at Ludington, Michigan, that Ludington has the blues. Everything, including golf and automobiling, is under the ban when Sunday comes 'round.

THE circus is up against the high cost of surviving. Even the price of a monkey has gone away up.

Not the Usual Way.

A New York city man recently committed suicide because he was unable to comprehend the mechanism of an automobile. Most peculiar. All the others we ever saw with this falling charged $1 an hour for their services, and then never hurried on the job of making a bad matter worse.

Remedy for Curl in Rugs.

The curling up of the edges of rugs is caused by the way in which they are woven. A remedy for this is to take two strips of very thin wool, each about three inches long, and sew on the underneath part of the rug at the corners. Let these remain for about a month, when the rugs will have conformed to the floors. Or rubber corner tips may be purchased in a furniture store.

BRUTES IN SLEEP

Captivity Seems to Change Natural Desires.

Wild Beasts Lie Down to Slumber, but Prisoners Appear to Prefer to Repose Standing.

How much of the pleasure of sleeping comes from the pleasure of lying down is a fair subject for debate. Almost every person who is not a hypocrite will admit that lying down is one of his most precious privileges. A medieval method of torture was to clap your victim in a cage so constructed that he could not lie down, says the New York Sun and Globe.

A study of the sleeping habits of animals tends to show that in a wild state they lie down to sleep like Christians, but in captivity or domestication some prefer to sleep on their feet.

That's not so difficult for a creature with four legs, "one at each corner," but for bipeds it requires quite a knack. Yet policemen, sentries and night watchmen have been known to sleep in a standing position. And there was a New Yorker of some distinction, a successful inventor, who, before his death in Mexico recently, had not lain down for several years.

Like a horse in a stable—he used to sleep standing up—generally propping himself against a mantelpiece. He was a victim of an extreme form of enlargement of the heart, and a recumbent position would bring on painful and alarming symptoms immediately.

He used to relate that throughout the uneasy night he would rest his weight on either leg alternately, never on both together. And observation of sleeping horses shows that they rest one leg at a time, supporting the weight on the other three.

Not all stabled horses refrain from lying down to rest, but 40 per cent do; and of those tied up, 90 per cent remain on their patient feet, whereas a horse running free in pasture lies down to sleep and also to rest and to play and to enjoy his unwonted intimacy with the night, the rain, the crickets and the buttercups.

Savages, rustics and vacationists lie down on the earth to rest a great deal. Creative people, like authors, say that ten minutes stretched out on a couch or lawn revives their mental powers in moments of exhaustion. Chicago's army of straphangers would like to try the experiment, but neither couches nor lawns are provided in our office buildings. Somebody ought to see about this.

Nature fans relate that elephants in the jungle lie down to sleep, while circus men relate that captive elephants sleep on their four legs. The same two observations are true of the rhinoceros.

A bird doesn't sleep on its legs—it sleeps on one leg. The other leg it curls up out of the way. That it should throw all the burden on one leg when it has two perfectly good ones is one of those illogical performances so rife among birds. When the bird is asleep its clutch on the perch is automatic and as tight as a vise.

Machinery Replaces Handwork.

The Manila hemp industry in the Philippines is being speeded up. A machine has been invented to do the work of stripping the fiber, formerly carried out by hand.

Manila hemp is not really a true hemp, but the fiber of a plantain, a kind of banana, grown on the hillsides of the islands of Luzon and Mindanao. The fiber used is found in the overlapping leaf-sheaths, which support stems 20 feet high. When about five years old the plant throws out a flower shoot, and the whole stalk is then cut down. The fibrous leaf-sheath is split into strips, and hitherto these strips have been scraped by hand.

Now, however, a hemp-stripping machine is in use which does seven times the work of the old hand process in a given time. With it one man can strip 140 pounds of fiber a day, a task that by hand occupies a whole week.

This Swan Was a Fighter.

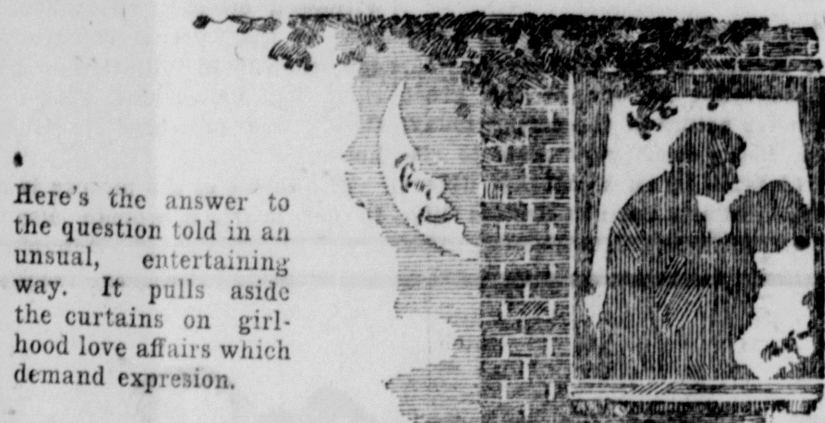

A battle with a swan and a bather occurred on the Thames river, the London Times reports. While bathing just below Windsor bridge a man was attacked by a swan about half way across the river. He managed to reach the bank, but the bird refused to allow him to return for his clothes. Some onlookers endeavored to divert the attention of the bird with bread, which they threw into the water, but the bird, while eating the bread, kept one eye on the bather. After waiting for nearly half an hour the bather dived in and swam as far as possible under water. Directly he appeared on the surface, however, the swan made for him with outstretched wings, and an exciting race ensued, which luckily was won by the man.

Modern Method of Shipping Milk.

It is now possible to ship milk several hundred miles without having it spoil. The old-fashioned milk can has given way to huge glass-lined tanks similar to the familiar vacuum bottle. These tanks are mounted on trucks and are insulated from the heat by the use of cork packing. Less than two gallons of milk sticks to the sides of these 5,000-gallon tanks. Milk has been handled in these tanks over distances of more than 100 miles with a rise of less than two degrees in temperature on hot summer nights when the outside atmospheric temperature stood at 88 degrees.

"You go, Harold," said Florence, "I'm tired."

"I am tired, too, you go yourself."
"Well, Harold, I'm older than you and I've had more time to get tired. You go." This line of reasoning was almost too much for Harold, but he finally rallied with:

"I don't care if you are older and have had more time to get tired. You've had more time to get rested, too. You go."

Moon Does Not Affect Vegetation.
The director of the office of experimental stations stated some years ago that he knew of no experiments which would support the common belief of the effects of the moon on vegetation. Lunar influence on the weather and vegetation of our planet belongs in the category of mythology, and different peoples have given different interpretations. Under similar atmospheric conditions the same amount of damage will result from a heavy frost in the dark of the moon as in the light of the moon.—P. Connor, United States Weather Bureau.

Vast Sums in New York Banks.
Time and demand deposits in New York banks at the close of a recent week amounted close to $4,500,000,000. One National bank alone has net time and demand deposits of almost $200,000,000. The largest check ever drawn in this country was made payable to the Canadian minister of finance in 1917, by J. P. Morgan & Co., the amount being $90,111,111.11.

Persistent Bees.
For 20 years a swarm of bees have occupied the back of the school clock at Micklethover, England, and no attempt at removing them has been successful, states a resident of that town. The swarm had been thought destroyed some years ago and the entrance the bees had made was cemented up, but each year they have returned, and they even bored a new hole through the cement.

Figures Show Country's Growth.
A single New York city bank of today carries deposits equalling more than twenty-one times the total deposits in all the city's banks in 1847. The deposits in New York banks in the year 1847 totaled $28,000,000. These banks carried $11,000,000 of specie and had a circulation of about $7,000,000.

PRESIDENT HARDING APPRAISES ALASKA'S POSSIBILITIES

PRESIDENT HARDING comes from Alaska to tell the world that he is not in favor of a policy that would lead to exploiting the resources of that country for present gain. In a striking sentence he says: "The process of development and establishment of permanent and ample civilization lies in a citizenship with homes in Alaska, not in investors who are seeking Alaskan wealth to enrich homes elsewhere."

The president is convinced that such exploitation would not be in the best interests of this country whose future is rich if its resources are used according to the principles of sound economics. He sees that the fishing grounds may be so depleted that Alaska will be robbed of this wealth, that investors might cut down her forests and take away the wealth contained therein, and that while they were doing this they would make no contribution to the best development of Alaska which must come through the efforts and activities of the people of Alaska themselves. In dealing with the effect of such exploitation, the president says: "If that is to be the Alaskan policy, we need not concern ourselves about agriculture. The adventurers and casual laborers, the masters of exploitation and agents of privilege will be satisfied to live on canned vegetables and cold storage meat during the brief periods of their temporary stays. The slow processes and modest returns of agriculture will not appeal to them."

As capital is freed to spread out investments will be made that will insure the development of the forests, railroads, coal fields and agriculture of Alaska, and the president pleads that these developments be in line with economic law and that the natural resources of the country shall not be exploited in the interests of investors who go in to take out the wealth that may be carried away and not with the intention of developing the country from which the wealth is taken.

The message is a warning and a prophecy. The chief executive of the United States sees a threat from "the masters of exploitation and agents of privilege," and he warns them to keep away.

THE PROPHECY OF WALTER H. PAGE

THE late Walter H. Page, ambassador from the United States in London during the war, in writing to Arthur W. Page at the time when America was entering the world conflict stated that he hoped that it would accomplish the following results. It is interesting to recall these and to see just how many of them have been realized.

- "First—It will break up and tear away our isolation;
 - "Second—It will unhorse our cranks and soft brains;
 - "Third—It will make us less promiscuously hospitable to every kind of immigrant;
 - "Fourth—It will re-establish in our minds and conscience and policy our true historic genesis, background, and destiny;
 - "Fifth—It will revive our real manhood—put the mollycoddles in disgrace, as idiots and dandies are;
 - "Sixth—It will make our politics frank and manly by restoring our true nationality;
 - "Seventh—It will make us again a great seafaring people;
 - "Eighth—Break up our feminized education—make a boy a vigorous animal and make our education rest on a wholesome physical basis;
 - "Ninth—Bring men of a higher type into our political life."
- A reading of this prophecy shows the wisdom of an American seer. Practically all of the prophecy has been partly fulfilled and what has not is likely to be. It is well sometimes to have our attention called to what men expected us to do, so that we may see how far we have fallen short. In those days men were deeply stirred, and out of their depths they cried to their people as Walter H. Page called to the American public. The public has heeded his voice and many of the things he asked they are attempting to realize in the life of the nation he served so well.

THREATENED STRIKE OF HARD COAL WORKERS

ONCE more the American people hear a threat of a strike in anthracite coal fields. The threat comes when the summer is far advanced and when stocks for use in the coming winter must be mined if the country is to have its fuel needs supplied. But, of course, the time to call a strike in the coal industry—a strike that will be of value to both operators and miners—is just at the time when the demand for coal is heavy. By a strike at such a time an excuse is provided for keeping the price at a high point and after the strike is over the price may be maintained under the excuse that stocks are depleted.

LLOYD GEORGE says that a monkey's bite was responsible for the overthrow of the real Greek leader and the resultant defeat of allied interests in the conference at Lausanne. And they say the World war originated because a lovers' quarrel caused an angry lover to shoot the Archduke. It's a strange world.

THEY are clamping the lid on so tight at Ludington, Michigan, that Ludington has the blues. Everything, including golf and automobilism, is under the ban when Sunday comes 'round.

THE circus is up against the high cost of surviving. Even the price of a monkey has gone away up.

Not the Usual Way.

A New York city man recently committed suicide because he was unable to comprehend the mechanism of an automobile. Most peculiar. All the others we ever saw with this falling charged $1 an hour for their services, and then never hurried on the job of making a bad matter worse.

Remedy for Curl in Rugs.

The curling up of the edges of rugs is caused by the way in which they are woven. A remedy for this is to take two strips of very thin wool, each about three inches long, and sew on the underneath part of the rug at the corners. Let these remain for about a month, when the rugs will have conformed to the floors. Or rubber corner tips may be purchased in a furniture store.

BRUTES IN SLEEP

Captivity Seems to Change Natural Desires.

Wild Beasts Lie Down to Slumber, but Prisoners Appear to Prefer to Repose Standing.

How much of the pleasure of sleeping comes from the pleasure of lying down is a fair subject for debate. Almost every person who is not a hypocrite will admit that lying down is one of his most precious privileges. A medieval method of torture was to clap your victim in a cage so constructed that he could not lie down, says the New York Sun and Globe.

A study of the sleeping habits of animals tends to show that in a wild state they lie down to sleep like Christians, but in captivity or domestication some prefer to sleep on their feet.

That's not so difficult for a creature with four legs, "one at each corner," but for bipeds it requires quite a knack. Yet policemen, sentries and night watchmen have been known to sleep in a standing position. And there was a New Yorker of some distinction, a successful inventor, who, before his death in Mexico recently, had not lain down for several years.

Like a horse in a stable—he used to sleep standing up—generally propping himself against a mantelpiece. He was a victim of an extreme form of enlargement of the heart, and a recumbent position would bring on painful and alarming symptoms immediately.

He used to relate that throughout the uneasy night he would rest his weight on either leg alternately, never on both together. And observation of sleeping horses shows that they rest one leg at a time, supporting the weight on the other three.

Not all stabled horses refrain from lying down to rest, but 40 per cent do; and of those tied up, 90 per cent remain on their patient feet, whereas a horse running free in pasture lies down to sleep and also to rest and to play and to enjoy his unwonted intimacy with the night, the rain, the crickets and the buttercups.

Savages, rustics and vacationists lie down on the earth to rest a great deal. Creative people, like authors, say that ten minutes stretched out on a couch or lawn revives their mental powers in moments of exhaustion. Chicago's army of straphangers would like to try the experiment, but neither couches nor lawns are provided in our office buildings. Somebody ought to see about this.

Nature fans relate that elephants in the jungle lie down to sleep, while circus men relate that captive elephants sleep on their four legs. The same two observations are true of the rhinoceros.

A bird doesn't sleep on its legs—it sleeps on one leg. The other leg it curls up out of the way. That it should throw all the burden on one leg when it has two perfectly good ones is one of those illogical performances so rife among birds. When the bird is asleep its clutch on the perch is automatic and as tight as a vise.

Machinery Replaces Handwork.

The Manila hemp industry in the Philippines is being speeded up. A machine has been invented to do the work of stripping the fiber, formerly carried out by hand.

Manila hemp is not really a true hemp, but the fiber of a plantain, a kind of banana, grown on the hillsides of the islands of Luzon and Mindanao. The fiber used is found in the overlapping leaf-sheaths, which support stems 20 feet high. When about five years old the plant throws out a flower shoot, and the whole stalk is then cut down. The fibrous leaf-sheath is split into strips, and hitherto these strips have been scraped by hand.

Now, however, a hemp-stripping machine is in use which does seven times the work of the old hand process in a given time. With it one man can strip 140 pounds of fiber a day, a task that by hand occupies a whole week.

This Swan Was a Fighter.

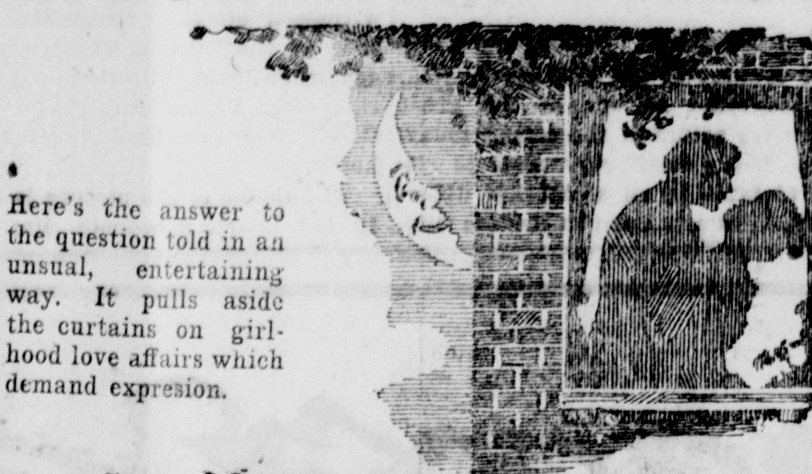

A battle with a swan and a bather occurred on the Thames river, the London Times reports. While bathing just below Windsor bridge a man was attacked by a swan about half way across the river. He managed to reach the bank, but the bird refused to allow him to return for his clothes. Some onlookers endeavored to divert the attention of the bird with bread, which they threw into the water, but the bird, while eating the bread, kept one eye on the bather. After waiting for nearly half an hour the bather dived in and swam as far as possible under water. Directly he appeared on the surface, however, the swan made for him with outstretched wings, and an exciting race ensued, which luckily was won by the man.

Modern Method of Shipping Milk.

It is now possible to ship milk several hundred miles without having it spoil. The old-fashioned milk can has given way to huge glass-lined tanks similar to the familiar vacuum bottle. These tanks are mounted on trucks and are insulated from the heat by the use of cork packing. Less than two gallons of milk sticks to the sides of these 5,000-gallon tanks. Milk has been handled in these tanks over distances of more than 100 miles with a rise of less than two degrees in temperature on hot summer nights when the outside atmospheric temperature stood at 88 degrees.

DR. H. S. THACHER

Why have thousands of men, women and children come to Dr. Thacher for relief? Why did the offices and laboratory of this great Physician become a veritable Mecca for those who suffered from nervous exhaustion, indigestion, constipation, impoverished and impure blood, rheumatism and the many tired out, "headachy," "peppish" symptoms of a torpid liver and overtaxed stomach.

Why have thousands idolized him—and why have other physicians used and highly recommended this treatment? Because it has produced results in countless numbers of cases after other medicines failed.

Now, for the first time, you can enjoy this remarkable treatment—in your own home. Leading druggists of the state have brought Dr. Thacher's treatment to you—and you can prove for yourself how quickly it will nourish you back to health and strength. And you will feel like a different person when it has done for you what it has done for countless numbers of those in need of its revitalizing nourishment.

Build Yourself Up!

Start on the road to health today! Let Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup improve your appetite, stimulate your digestion and put your stomach in condition to assimilate the vital nourishment from food.

Know what it means to enjoy your meals without suffering afterwards. Freedom from constipation, pure, healthy blood, steady nerves and sound digestion will give you a clearer mind, a better complexion and a more attractive personality. It will enable you to win back and retain that delightful feeling of strength, ambition and "pep."

Try This Tonight

Take a delicious tablespoonful after the next meal. Keep this treatment up after meals, according to directions, and in two days you will notice a difference in the way you eat, sleep and feel. The cost is only a dollar for a full size bottle, and you would not trade your restored health and energy for many times this price.

MEDICINE THAT DRUGGISTS GUARANTEE

Druggists throughout this section first became interested in Dr. Thacher's treatment when they learned of the remarkable results it had produced in surrounding cities and towns. Their interest was further stimulated by calls from numbers of summer visitors who told of almost miraculous cases of complete relief among their friends and in their own families after other medicines had failed.

Local druggists realized the need for such a treatment here. They investigated and were more than gratified by what they learned.

Remarkable Facts

Of unusual interest is the fact that of more than 110,000 bottles sold in two months in Pennsylvania and Ohio, only nine have been returned. Yet every single bottle is sold under the guarantee that the purchase price will be cheerfully returned if Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup fails to give complete satisfaction and relief.

A Standing Guarantee

This liberal guarantee will hold good on every bottle in this state. It means that Dr. Thacher's Liver and Blood Syrup will not cost you a cent if it fails to improve your appetite, strengthen your digestion, help Nature purify your blood and relieve those sick, nervous headaches, biliousness, gas on stomach, shortness of breath, coated tongue and other symptoms of a torpid liver and weakened stomach.

Logic.
Harold, age six, and his sister scarcely two years his senior were playing, when Mrs. Lynn called to them:
"One of you children run upstairs and get me a spool of black thread."
"You go, Harold," said Florence. "I'm tired."

"I am tired, too, you go yourself."
"Well, Harold, I'm older than you and I've had more time to get tired. You go." This line of reasoning was almost too much for Harold, but he finally rallied with:
"I don't care if you are older and have had more time to get tired. You've had more time to get rested, too. You go."

Moon Does Not Affect Vegetation.
The director of the office of experimental stations stated some years ago that he knew of no experiments which would support the common belief of the effects of the moon on vegetation. Lunar influence on the weather and vegetation of our planet belongs in the category of mythology, and different peoples have given different interpretations. Under similar atmospheric conditions the same amount of damage will result from a heavy frost in the dark of the moon as in the light of the moon.—P. Connor, United States Weather Bureau.

Vast Sums in New York Banks.
Time and demand deposits in New York banks at the close of a recent week amounted close to $4,500,000,000. One National bank alone has net time and demand deposits of almost $600,000,000. The largest check ever drawn in this country was made payable to the Canadian minister of finance in 1917, by J. P. Morgan & Co., the amount being $96,111,111.11.

Persistent Bees.
For 20 years a swarm of bees have occupied the back of the school clock at Milledgeville, England, and no attempt at removing them has been successful, states a resident of that town. The swarm had been thought destroyed some years ago and the entrance the bees had made was cemented up, but each year they have returned, and they even bored a new hole through the cement.

Figures Show Country's Growth.
A single New York city bank of today carries deposits equalling more than twenty-one times the total deposits in all the city's banks in 1847. The deposits in New York banks in the year 1847 totaled $23,000,000. These banks carried $11,000,000 of specie and had a circulation of about $7,000,000.

FALLS UNDER FREIGHT AND LOSES FOUR TOES

Alfred Johnson of Minneapolis Bound
For Dakota Harvest Fields,
Close to Death

WAS "HOOKING ON FREIGHT"

Dr. B. I. Derauf Called, Who Found
It Necessary to Amputate
Four Toes

While trying to "hook a freight" in the Brainerd yards early this morning, Alfred Johnson, of Minneapolis, bound for the North Dakota harvest fields, fell under the train, miraculously escaping with only the loss of four toes.

Johnson, with three companions, "rode the rods" from Minneapolis to Brainerd Wednesday night on the fast freight. They said that they intended to get off at Little Falls, but the train went through that city at too great a speed for them to jump, so they came on to Brainerd, arriving about five o'clock this morning.

Freight train No. 623, a time freight from Duluth to Staples, left Brainerd at 6:15, and the men decided that they would go west on it. They caught the train about midway between the shops and the depot. It had gained such speed when Johnson attempted to get aboard that he was swung under, the wheels passing over four toes of his right foot.

In some way, he was rolled out of the way, through the motion of the train, landing some little distance from the track. His companions, who saw the accident went to his assistance, and he was hurried to the Northwestern hospital.

Dr. B. I. Derauf was called and found it necessary to amputate the four injured toes. It is believed that Johnson's left hip and his back are injured, but the extent of these injuries have not been determined.

Johnson gave his age as 46 years, his address as 2264 Ampden Ave., Minneapolis, which is believed to have been meant for Hampton Ave. He had about $4 in money on his person. He stated that he had a half-brother, Simon Grundy living at 10747 Avenue 8, South Chicago. One of his three companions at the time of the accident was Fred Lindberg, also of Minneapolis. All of the men are remaining in the city to await the result of their pal's accident.

BUT INSTRUMENT OF JUSTICE

Chinese Executioner Went on His Way, Lopping Off Heads, as All
in the Day's Work.

Being an executioner is not necessarily a nerve-racking business. If we can take the word of the old Chinaman whom Mr. James Marsh Reid mentions in his book, "The Charm of the Middle Kingdom," the work meant to him simply food for himself and his family. Doubtless other executioners feel the same way.

There was nothing extraordinary about the face of the man, says Mr. Reid, except perhaps that it was not coarse. The feeble old fellow must have been a big man in his day, for even bent over as he was he loomed large in the doorway. After we had chatted in a commonplace manner I asked him if he knew how many souls he had freed.

"I wan ta hao, chin wang lo," he replied without an instant's hesitation. A free translation of what he said was, "I lopped off ten thousand; then I lost count."

In the circumstances I thought his composure remarkable. Perhaps he was only feigning; so I put more questions. "After an especially busy day could you sleep well?" I asked.

"The busier the day the better I slept," he replied soberly.

"But weren't you ever bothered by your business? Didn't you sometimes feel like a common murderer?"

The old executioner raised his eyes. "I never used the knife," he replied. "I was offered big pay to do the seven cuts, but I washed my hands of torture. No, I would starve before I would torture. Only a brute will torture."

"Then the mere business of lopping off heads meant nothing to you?"

"Ah, the business; that meant a great deal. It meant food for me and my family. But, you see, I did not allow the personal relation to enter into it; I never had dealings with friends. As for the others, I saw nothing except a little band of flesh. I swung and passed on. For such things I have no memory."

So there was a code of honor among executioners! They would not descend to torture, though they had no compunctions at killing. And, mind you, the old executioner never once used the word "kill" or "cut." When he said, "I wan ta hao," he meant that he merely hit ten thousand. The rest of it was an affair of natural mechanics; it has long been known to men of science that a man cannot exist separate from his head.—Youth's Companion.

On Sunday, July 29th, Mrs. Peter Johnson of Ft. Ripley, entertained thirty-five guests, the occasion being in honor of her 72nd birthday.

A number of carloads motored out from Brainerd, thoroughly enjoying the splendid hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, who are among Crew Wing county's oldest settlers.

An elaborate chicken dinner was served by Mrs. L. J. Clouse, Mrs. James Hurley and Mrs. Charles Johnson, daughters of the hostess, who also served a dainty lunch to the many guests before their departure.

Mrs. Johnson was presented with a beautiful jet locket as a token of the high esteem in which she is held by her many friends.

As the guests departed, wishing her many happy returns of the day, Mrs. Johnson presented each one with a jar of her home-made jellies, which came as a pleasant surprise and was greatly appreciated.

Beavers Do Much Damage.

Depredations of beavers in the Adirondacks region of New York have made necessary a law providing that the conservation commission be authorized to regulate the taking of beaver, in traps only, between March 1 and March 31. At one time the beaver was extinct in New York. A few were obtained and since then these forest rodents have multiplied so rapidly and have cut down so many trees and flooded so much territory that they have rendered valueless many large tracts of forest and farm land.

ALPHA CHAPTER'S ANNUAL OUTING

Eastern Star to Gather at Lum Park

PARK BOARD COOPERATES

Piece de Resistance Will be Big
Dance in Evening, Julewood
Orchestra Playing

Alpha Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold its annual outing at Lum park on Thursday, August 9th, afternoon and evening. To this outing the Masonic bodies and their friends are invited.

Plans have been in the making for the past month for this event, but nothing was given out until the committee had decided upon a date which would favor the majority of those who wish to attend.

All who can be asked to take full advantage of the opportunities which Lum park offers for a real outing, and start the festivities with a picnic in the afternoon, bringing well filled lunch baskets and staying for the dance in the evening.

The bathing facilities at the park should be enough of an attraction to lure many to the spot early. The park board has provided tables, fireplaces and beautiful picnic grounds, so that the day can be made a most enjoyable one.

The piece de resistance, will be the big dance in the evening, the justly famous Julewood orchestra furnishing the music. Dancing will start promptly at 9 o'clock. The committee states that a program of dances has been arranged which should please all. There will be plenty of the kind that those who think they are old, will enjoy, and numerous popular numbers of the day, so that those of all ages will be more than satisfied.

Masons and their families from the tourist campsite and from the surrounding summer resorts are especially invited to attend this outing, and enjoy the hospitality of the local Eastern Star.

The committee in charge is composed of A. C. Ebert, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. James Crust, Wm. Anderson and Mrs. Herbert Peterson.

Happy Little Country.

The smallest state in the world which enjoys an idyllic existence, Liechtenstein, is situated between Switzerland and Austria. With its 11,000 inhabitants, this tiny territory and the little Austrian province of Vorarlberg have now entered into a customs union with the Swiss republic. Prior to the war Liechtenstein, in spite of the strong antipathy of its people toward the Hapsburgs, was united with the Austrian monarchy by union of customs, post and currency. During the war the diminutive principality, with its "armed power" of 12 field-watchmen, remained neutral. In 1920 the principality amalgamated postal administration with that of Switzerland, and the post office in Liechtenstein differing from the Swiss post office only so far that they sell stamps with the portrait of the prince. The Austrian crown was long ago replaced by the Swiss franc, so that the economic fusion of Liechtenstein into Switzerland is now complete.

To Our Patrons,
Brainerd, Minn.,

Dear Friends:--

For four days I have been looking over what the garment manufacturers have to offer. It is not hard to find garments for I am told that there are over 7,000 women's garment manufacturers in New York. Certain it is that one can hardly believe the number there are. The upper floors of building after building are occupied as factories and show rooms. The majority of the garments manufactured are made by small manufacturers. In this it is unlike many other business.

You who visit our store will want to know what we shall have to offer this season. I shall confine this letter to a discussion of women's dresses. I have never given dresses the attention I am giving this trip and I feel certain that you'll be pleased with the result when you see them. The fact that fall suits are scarcely used this season is focusing the attention on dresses, as they will be sold in greater quantities than ever, since suits will not be sold.

With the assistance of our resident buyer I have located what I consider most unusual values. I am certain that the dresses we shall offer at from $17.50 to $29.75 will surprise you. We will have cheaper and also better dresses but the range between these prices will be most beautiful. The styles? I cannot describe them in this space. They follow every dictate of fashion. Then too, we want you to see them. You'll find it a pleasure to see them I am sure.

I have become enthused with the styles and beauty of the dresses for those who wear sizes of 40 and larger. We have not given these size dresses the attention we perhaps should. I have found styles and values I am sure will please and shall have them in a good selection for our patrons. I am anxious to have them arrive at home and to show them and hear the comments. I believe they will be favorable.

It seems that I've never seen prettier dresses for the little women than the season is producing. There are so many new features and it seems that little women do delight in them. I am promised deliveries of many next week and I shall anxiously await the time when I can announce their arrival.

I think this is enough for this time. Perhaps I'll write again before I leave the city.

Sincerely,

W. P. Michael

They said that they intended to get off at Little Falls, but the train went through that city at too great a speed for them to jump, so they came on to Brainerd, arriving about five o'clock this morning.

Freight train No. 623, a time freight from Duluth to Staples, left Brainerd at 6:15, and the men decided that they would go west on it. They caught the train about midway between the shops and the depot. It had gained such speed when Johnson attempted to get aboard that he was swung under, the wheels passing over four toes of his right foot.

In some way, he was rolled out of the way, through the motion of the train, landing some little distance from the track. His companions, who saw the accident went to his assistance, and he was hurried to the Northwestern hospital.

Dr. B. I. Derauf was called and found it necessary to amputate the four injured toes. It is believed that Johnson's left hip and his back are injured, but the extent of these injuries have not been determined.

Johnson gave his age as 46 years, his address as 2264 Ampden Ave., Minneapolis, which is believed to have been meant for Hampton Ave. He had about $4 in money on his person. He stated that he had a half-brother, Simon Grundy living at 10747 Avenue 8, South Chicago. One of his three companions at the time of the accident was Fred Lindberg, also of Minneapolis. All of the men are remaining in the city to await the result of their pal's accident.

BUT INSTRUMENT OF JUSTICE

Chinese Executioner Went on His Way, Lopping Off Heads, as All
in the Day's Work.

Being an executioner is not necessarily a nerve-racking business. If we can take the word of the old Chinaman whom Mr. James Marsh Reid mentions in his book, "The Charm of the Middle Kingdom," the work meant to him simply food for himself and his family. Doubtless other executioners feel the same way.

There was nothing extraordinary about the face of the man, says Mr. Reid, except perhaps that it was not coarse. The feeble old fellow must have been a big man in his day, for even bent over as he was he loomed large in the doorway. After we had chatted in a commonplace manner I asked him if he knew how many souls he had freed.

"I wan ta hao, chin wang lo," he replied without an instant's hesitation. A free translation of what he said was, "I lopped off ten thousand; then I lost count."

In the circumstances I thought his composure remarkable. Perhaps he was only feigning; so I put more questions. "After an especially busy day could you sleep well?" I asked.

"The busier the day the better I slept," he replied soberly.

"But weren't you ever bothered by your business? Didn't you sometimes feel like a common murderer?"

The old executioner raised his eyes. "I never used the knife," he replied. "I was offered big pay to do the seven cuts, but I washed my hands of torture. No, I would starve before I would torture. Only a brute will torture."

"Then the mere business of lopping off heads meant nothing to you?"

"Ah, the business; that meant a great deal. It meant food for me and my family. But, you see, I did not allow the personal relation to enter into it; I never had dealings with friends. As for the others, I saw nothing except a little band of flesh. I swung and passed on. For such things I have no memory."

So there was a code of honor among executioners! They would not descend to torture, though they had no compunctions at killing. And mind you, the old executioner never once used the word "kill" or "cut." When he said, "I wan ta hao," he meant that he merely hit ten thousand. The rest of it was an affair of natural mechanics; it has long been known to men of science that a man cannot exist separate from his head.—Youth's Companion.

Mrs. Peter Johnson of Fort Ripley
Entertained 35 Guests on
Happy Occasion

On Sunday, July 29th, Mrs. Peter Johnson of Ft. Ripley, entertained thirty-five guests, the occasion being in honor of her 72nd birthday.

A number of carloads motored out from Brainerd, thoroughly enjoying the splendid hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, who are among Crew Wing county's oldest settlers.

An elaborate chicken dinner was served by Mrs. L. J. Clouse, Mrs. James Hurley and Mrs. Charles Johnson, daughters of the hostess, who also served a dainty lunch to the many guests before their departure.

Mrs. Johnson was presented with a beautiful jet locket as a token of the high esteem in which she is held by her many friends.

As the guests departed, wishing her many happy returns of the day, Mrs. Johnson presented each one with a jar of her home-made jellies, which came as a pleasant surprise and was greatly appreciated.

Beavers Do Much Damage.

Depredations of beavers in the Adirondacks region of New York have made necessary a law providing that the conservation commission be authorized to regulate the taking of beaver, in traps only, between March 1 and March 31. At one time the beaver was extinct in New York. A few were obtained and since then these forest rodents have multiplied so rapidly and have cut down so many trees and flooded so much territory that they have rendered valueless many large tracts of forest and farm land.

ALPHA CHAPTER'S ANNUAL OUTING

Eastern Star to Gather at Lum Park
on Thursday Afternoon and Evening, August 9

PARK BOARD COOPERATES

Piece de Resistance Will be Big
Dance in Evening, Julewood
Orchestra Playing

Alpha Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold its annual outing at Lum park on Thursday, August 9th, afternoon and evening. To this outing the Masonic bodies and their friends are invited.

Plans have been in the making for the past month for this event, but nothing was given out until the committee had decided upon a date which would favor the majority of those who wish to attend.

All who can be asked to take full advantage of the opportunities which Lum park offers for a real outing, and start the festivities with a picnic in the afternoon, bringing well filled lunch baskets and staying for the dance in the evening.

The bathing facilities at the park should be enough of an attraction to lure many to the spot early. The park board has provided tables, fireplaces and beautiful picnic grounds, so that the day can be made a most enjoyable one.

The piece de resistance, will be the big dance in the evening, the justly famous Julewood orchestra furnishing the music. Dancing will start promptly at 9 o'clock. The committee states that a program of dances has been arranged which should please all. There will be plenty of the kind that those who think they are old, will enjoy, and numerous popular numbers of the day, so that those of all ages will be more than satisfied.

Masons and their families from the tourist campsite and from the surrounding summer resorts are especially invited to attend this outing, and enjoy the hospitality of the local Eastern Star.

The committee in charge is composed of A. C. Ebert, chairman, Mr. and Mrs. James Crust, Wm. Anderson and Mrs. Herbert Peterson.

Happy Little Country.

The smallest state in the world which enjoys an idyllic existence, Liechtenstein, is situated between Switzerland and Austria. With its 11,000 inhabitants, this tiny territory and the little Austrian province of Vorarlberg have now entered into a customs union with the Swiss republic. Prior to the war Liechtenstein, in spite of the strong antipathy of its people toward the Hapsburgs, was united with the Austrian monarchy by union of customs, post and currency. During the war the diminutive principality, with its "armed power" of 12 field watchmen, remained neutral. In 1920 the principality amalgamated postal administration with that of Switzerland, the post office in Liechtenstein offering from the Swiss post office only so far that they sell stamps with the portrait of the prince. The Austrian crown was long ago replaced by the Swiss franc, so that the economic fusion of Liechtenstein into Switzerland is now complete.

SAGE TEA BEAUTIFIES AND DARKENS HAIR

Don't Stay Gray! It Darkens So
Naturally That Nobody
Can Tell

You can turn gray, faded hair beautifully dark and lustrous almost over night if you'll get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store. Millions of bottles of this old famous Sage Tea Recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, are sold annually, says a well known druggist here, because it darkens the hair so naturally and evenly that no one can tell it has been applied.

Those whose hair is turning gray or becoming faded have a surprise awaiting them, because after one or two applications the gray hair vanishes and your locks become luxuriantly dark and beautiful.

This is the age of youth. Gray-haired, unattractive folks aren't wanted around, so get busy with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound tonight and you'll be delighted with your dark, handsome hair and your youthful appearance within a few days.—Adv't.

To Our Patrons,
Brainerd, Minn.,

Dear Friends:—

For four days I have been looking over what the garment manufacturers have to offer. It is not hard to find garments for I am told that there are over 7,000 women's garment manufacturers in New York. Certain it is that one can hardly believe the number there are. The upper floors of building after building are occupied as factories and show rooms. The majority of the garments manufactured are made by small manufacturers. In this it is unlike many other business.

You who visit our store will want to know what we shall have to offer this season. I shall confine this letter to a discussion of women's dresses. I have never given dresses the attention I am giving this trip and I feel certain that you'll be pleased with the result when you see them. The fact that fall suits are scarcely used this season is focusing the attention on dresses, as they will be sold in greater quantities than ever, since suits will not be sold.

With the assistance of our resident buyer I have located what I consider most unusual values. I am certain that the dresses we shall offer at from $17.50 to $29.75 will surprise you. We will have cheaper and also better dresses but the range between these prices will be most beautiful. The styles? I cannot describe them in this space. They follow every dictate of fashion. Then too, we want you to see them. You'll find it a pleasure to see them I am sure.

I have become enthused with the styles and beauty of the dresses for those who wear sizes of 40 and larger. We have not given these size dresses the attention we perhaps should. I have found styles and values I am sure will please and shall have them in a good selection for our patrons. I am anxious to have them arrive at home and to show them and hear the comments. I believe they will be favorable.

It seems that I've never seen prettier dresses for the little women than the season is producing. There are so many new features and it seems that little women do delight in them. I am promised deliveries of many next week and I shall anxiously await the time when I can announce their arrival.

I think this is enough for this time. Perhaps I'll write again before I leave the city.

Sincerely,

H. Michael

SPORTS

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Aug. 2.—In their desire to get into print professional athletes, especially boxers, wrestlers and their managers have a tendency to twist facts and overlook the truth.

It is apparent in some publicity that has been sent out recently in the interest of Nat Pendleton, "Olympic champion" wrestler, that the memory of either Pendleton or his managers does not extend back as far as 1920 and they apparently have forgotten the last Olympic games in Antwerp.

Claiming that none of the professional wrestlers would give him a chance, Pendleton recently announced that he was going to turn boxer and he quoted a flock of reasons why he felt he could accomplish the switch over.

On a flashy poster, Pendleton is held up as "the world's intercollegiate and Olympic champion wrestler," as "America's representative and winner of the world's wrestling championship at the Olympic games, Antwerp, 1920."

Referring to the official record book of the Olympic games as compiled and certified to by the International Olympic Association, the following can be found under "Wrestling Catch-as-Catch-Can Style."

"Heavyweight class: Roth (Switzerland) won; Pendleton (United States) second; Meyer (United States) and Nilsson (Sweden) tied for third."

This is rather conclusive that Pendleton is not the "world's Olympic wrestling champion," and he was not exactly "America's representative" at Antwerp as there were many wrestlers on the American team.

Under a caption—"Challenge!" the advertising matter also says: "Nat Pendleton guarantees to overpower Jack Dempsey in a bare-hand rough and tumble match in less than ten minutes. Dempsey is invited to step on the mat at any of Pendleton's public appearances. If Pendleton fails he agrees to pay Dempsey the total receipts of the house."

Dempsey, perhaps, will get a kick out of this challenge. The receipts at a wrestling match under the present conditions in New York would not be enough to pay Dempsey for the tape on his hands.

Another entry on the card announces that Pendleton pledges himself "on my honor as an American to fight ever and always against dishonest influences in professional athletes."

Good sportsmanship should prompt him to take that "Olympic champion" out of his list of titles.

Champions of all who arranged facts to suit themselves were the promoters of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight. They broke all records.

First they gave the newspapermen false statements that they had the second installment of the Dempsey purse ready days before June 15 when the payment was due.

Next they flashed upon the press a telegram saying that "one thousand and two" seats had been sold in Omaha. Investigation proved that about fifty had been sold.

On top of that they showed a fake telegram announcing that Louis Hill, the big power of the Great Northern railroad was coming with "cash and securities to save the fight." The message as delivered by the Western Union was signed Louis W. Till and it was admitted later that the name was changed in the copies handed out to the press.

Also, the promoters when asked to get Gibbons' measurements, turned over to the press a column of figures that made Gibbons bigger than Dempsey over night. Gibbons knew nothing about it and neither did Eddie Kane.

Then, after having destroyed all confidence that the newspaper men might have placed in them, the promoters turned around after they had made a "bust" of their own fight and blamed the collapse of their dream on New York newspapermen who had been hired by Tex Rickard to kill the fight.

St. Paul Player Wins

In Grand Forks Meet

Grand Forks, Aug. 2.—Myron Hutchinson, St. Paul star, has advanced to the fourth round of the Red River Valley open event in the state tennis tournament being held here. The Minnesotan defeated J. W. Wilkerson of this city, veteran court player in the second round. Tudor and Rumble, also of St. Paul, won their matches in the second round, but Metcalf was defeated by Hancock of Chicago, present champion, 6-0, 6-3.

The upset of the tournament thus far was the defeat of C. P. Tenneson of Fargo, by Paul Loughlin, Grand Forks youngster, in the first round of the open event. Loughlin won an up hill battle after three sets.

Elton and Wilkerson of Grand Forks, state and open doubles champions, waded through three matches this afternoon and went into the semi finals of that event.

There was little play in the state singles and but one match in the open doubles.

Tom Gibbons Is Still

Anxious for Return Go

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 2.—Tommy Gibbons, who stayed 15 rounds with Champion Jack Dempsey in the 4th of July heavyweight battle at Shelby, Mont., is still looking for another chance at Dempsey's crown, according to statements by Gibbons and his manager, Eddie Kane, who are here. Gibbons set Decoration Day, May 30, next spring, as the earliest date on which he could meet the champion again.

"It is my ambition to win the heavyweight championship," Gibbons stated. "I am ready at any time to fight for the light heavyweight crown, but that is not my goal."

Kane expressed disappointment that Luis Angel Firpo had been given the Sept. 14 date with Dempsey, and believes he sees a clever move by the champion and his manager in taking on the improving Firpo before he reaches perfection as a fighter.

COYOTE, COPS IN A CHICKEN COOP MIXUP

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, Aug. 2.—A coyote attempting to raid a chicken roost put two Minneapolis policemen on the hospital list early today.

A gun squad was called to the home of E. D. Schlagel at 2 a. m. and instead of finding a prowler they found the coyote. The animal dropped, apparently dead, at the first volley from the sawed-off shot guns. Patrolman William Hidingier started to pick the animal up, and the coyote lacerated his hand. The animal then turned on Patrolman Neil McClean, tore a hole in his shoe and gashed his foot.

A shot by Patrolman Walter Lindberg finished the animal.

SPORTS

FANNING WITH ARRELL

TRUTH AND RING AND MAT PUBLICITY

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Aug. 2.—In their desire to get into print professional athletes, especially boxers, wrestlers and their managers have a tendency to twist facts and overlook the truth.

It is apparent in some publicity that has been sent out recently in the interest of Nat Pendleton, "Olympic champion" wrestler, that the memory of either Pendleton or his managers does not extend back as far as 1920 and they apparently have forgotten the last Olympic games in Antwerp.

Claiming that none of the professional wrestlers would give him a chance, Pendleton recently announced that he was going to turn boxer and he quoted a flock of reasons why he felt he could accomplish the switch over.

On a flashy poster, Pendleton is held up as "the world's intercollegiate and Olympic champion wrestler," as "America's representative and winner of the world's wrestling championship at the Olympic games, Antwerp, 1920."

Referring to the official record book of the Olympic games as compiled and certified to by the International Olympic Association, the following can be found under "Wrestling Catch-as-Catch-Can Style."

"Heavyweight class: Roth (Switzerland) won; Pendleton (United States) second; Meyer (United States) and Nilsson (Sweden) tied for third."

This is rather conclusive that Pendleton is not the "world's Olympic wrestling champion," and he was not exactly "America's representative" at Antwerp as there were many wrestlers on the American team.

Under a caption—"Challenge!" the advertising matter also says:

"Nat Pendleton guarantees to overpower Jack Dempsey in a bare-hand rough and tumble match in less than ten minutes. Dempsey is invited to step on the mat at any of Pendleton's public appearances. If Pendleton fails he agrees to pay Dempsey the total receipts of the house."

Dempsey, perhaps, will get a kick out of this challenge. The receipts at a wrestling match under the present conditions in New York would not be enough to pay Dempsey for the tape on his hands.

Another entry on the card announces that Pendleton pledges himself "on my honor as an American to fight ever and always against dishonest influences in professional athletes."

Good sportsmanship should prompt him to take that "Olympic champion" out of his list of titles.

Champions of all who arranged facts to suit themselves were the promoters of the Dempsey-Gibbons fight. They broke all records.

First they gave the newspapermen false statements that they had the second installment of the Dempsey purse ready days before June 15 when the payment was due.

Next they flashed upon the press a telegram saying that "one thousand and two" seats had been sold in Omaha. Investigation proved that about fifty had been sold.

On top of that they showed a fake telegram announcing that Louis Hill, the big power of the Great Northern railroad was coming with "cash and securities to save the fight." The message as delivered by the Western Union was signed Louis W. Hill and it was admitted later that the name was changed in the copies handed out to the press.

Also, the promoters when asked to get Gibbons' measurements, turned over to the press a column of figures that made Gibbons bigger than Dempsey over night. Gibbons knew nothing about it and neither did Eddie Kane.

Then, after having destroyed all confidence that the newspaper men might have placed in them, the promoters turned around after they had made a "bust" of their own fight and blamed the collapse of their dream on New York newspapermen who had been hired by Tex Rickard to give the fight.

St. Paul Player Wins

In Grand Forks Meet

Grand Forks, Aug. 2.—Myron Hutchinson, St. Paul star, has advanced to the fourth round of the Red River Valley open event in the state tennis tournament being held here. The Minnesota defeated J. W. Wilkerson of this city, veteran court player in the second round. Tudor and Rumble, also of St. Paul, won their matches in the second round, but Metcalf was defeated by Hancock of Chicago, present champion, 6-0, 6-3.

The upset of the tournament thus far was the defeat of C. P. Tenneson of Fargo, by Paul Loughlin, Grand Forks youngster, in the first round of the open event. Loughlin won an up hill battle after three sets.

Elton and Wilkerson of Grand Forks, state and open doubles champions, waded through three matches this afternoon and went into the semi finals of that event.

There was little play in the state singles and but one match in the open doubles.

Tom Gibbons Is Still

Anxious for Return Go

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 2.—Tommy Gibbons, who stayed 15 rounds with Champion Jack Dempsey in the 4th of July heavyweight battle at Shelby, Mont., is still looking for another chance at Dempsey's crown, according to statements by Gibbons and his manager, Eddie Kane, who are here. Gibbons set Decoration Day, May 30, next spring, as the earliest date on which he could meet the champion again.

"It is my ambition to win the heavyweight championship," Gibbons stated. "I am ready at any time to fight for the light heavyweight crown, but that is not my goal."

Kane expressed disappointment that Luis Angel Firpo had been given the Sept. 14 date with Dempsey, and believes he sees a clever move by the champion and his manager in taking on the improving Firpo before he reaches perfection as a fighter.

COYOTE, COPS IN A CHICKEN COOP MIXUP

(By United Press)
Minneapolis, Aug. 2.—A coyote attempting to raid a chicken roost put two Minneapolis policemen on the hospital list early today.

A gun squad was called to the home of B. D. Schlagerl at 2 a. m. and instead of finding a prowler they found the coyote. The animal dropped, apparently dead, at the first volley from the sawed-off shot guns. Patrolman William Hidingier started to pick the animal up, and the coyote lacerated his hand. The animal then turned on Patrolman Neil McClean, tore a hole in his shoe and gashed his foot.

A shot by Patrolman Walter Lindberg finished the animal.
